12. Training & Experience Validation

NBCAAM educational requirements are: The 200 hours of education should be broken down as follows: the curriculum contains at least 50 hours of training in anatomy & physiology, kinesiology (for massage) and pathologies; 50 hours of supervised-in class hands-on work, which would include assessment and treatment, benefits of massage/acupressure, and practice guidelines; and the remaining 100 hours would be divided among classes such as business, ethics, behavior, safety, etc. Distance learning is acceptable for any "lecture" class such as anatomy & physiology, business and ethics. However, hands-on classes such as massage techniques, assessment, acupoint and meridian locations must be taught in an in-class supervised setting.

- a) All applicants are required to submit copies of the certificates/diplomas from the 200 hour minimum acupressure or massage program or school which they attended, or
- b) Applicants who have not attended a 200 hour minimum acupressure or massage program or school, must provide evidence of equivalent training or apprenticeship in a 200-hour Curriculum. This would include certificates or diplomas, grade reports from colleges, etc. Applicants that have attended human massage or acupressure schools can submit a copy of their certificate/diploma for 50 hours of training credit. and/or
- c). Grandfathering - The NBCAAM Board is providing credit hours to individuals who have extensive work experience. Work experience is defined as performing an equine/canine massage or acupressure session for a client, conducting a talk or workshop specifically on the topic of equine/canine massage or acupressure.

Legal Standing of Animal Massage & Acupressure

Federal, state and foreign laws regarding animals and massage and/or acupressure can vary widely. Laws such as veterinary practice acts, massage therapy or parlor acts, chiropractic acts, physical therapy acts, and other rules pertaining to animals vary from state to state and possibly from town to town. Laws, rules and regulations can change without advance notice and may affect whether and how a practitioner is able/not able to perform massage and/or acupressure on animals. It is also possible that courts or licensing authorities may interpret these laws, rules, and regulations in a way which may affect animal massage and acupressure.

The National Board of Certification for Animal Acupressure & Massage (NBCAAM) will try to stay abreast of current and pending legislation. However, it is the sole responsibility of the applicant to determine what rules, laws and regulations apply in the jurisdictions, counties, towns, states, or countries where they intend to practice animal massage and/or acupressure.
